gas' McCarran International Airport (LAS) begins Nov. 18, 2021 and will be operated by Boeing Next Generation 737-800 aircraft.

"We are excited to add this second popular vacation and entertainment destination to our Eureka/Arcata schedule," said Avelo chairman and CEO Andrew Levy. "Getting to Vegas from the Humboldt Bay Area is now easier and more affordable than ever. The addition of Las Vegas to our existing Los Angeles service, demonstrates our commitment to providing more choice and convenient access to the places our Customers want to go at everyday low fares."

"We are beyond excited to expand our partnership with Avelo Airlines," said County of Humboldt Director of Aviation Cody Roggatz. "The Humboldt Community has been very supportive of the Los Angeles service that Avelo started in May 2021, leading Avelo to expand their offerings out of ACV with this new service to Las Vegas. Humboldt residents will now have low-price airfare for direct access to all that the entertainment capital of the world offers."

"I want to thank Avelo for its continued confidence in our community. Their expanded investment in air service is further evidence that Humboldt County's future is bright," said Gregg Foster, executive director of the Redwood Region Economic Development Commission. "This new service will provide a vital and convenient link between two great leisure and business destinations. We look forward to working with Avelo and local business and travel interests to ensure a durable and mutually beneficial partnership."

The Entertainment Capital of the World

As one of North America's leading business and leisure destinations, Las Vegas offers something for everyone, including unrivaled entertainment and nightlife, exhilarating sporting events, world-famous hotels and dining experiences, casinos, shopping and more. Beyond the strip, outdoor adventures, family friendly activities, top-rated golf courses and iconic attractions await visitors of all ages.

"Avelo Airlines continues to expand its service between Las Vegas and unique California destinations, which is a win for our customers," said Chris Jones, McCarran International Airport chief marketing officer. "Beyond bringing more travelers to Las Vegas, this new route will create more opportunities for local residents to experience the natural beauty of the North Coast of California and Redwoods National and State Parks."

Celebrate the new EV chargers, futsal court at Oct. 1 ribbon cutting

CITY OF ARCATA

ARCATA — The City of Arcata is excited to celebrate the completion of two community projects with two ribbon cutting ceremonies on Friday, Oct. 1 at the Arcata Community Center, located at 321 Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Parkway.

An EV charging station ceremony will take place at 5:30 p.m. and the official grand opening of the Arcata Futsal Court will begin at 5:45 p.m.

The City of Arcata has partnered with the Redwood Coast Energy Authority (RCEA) to install four dual-port electric vehicle (EV) charging stations at the Arcata Community Center and Arcata Sports Complex parking lot. Funds for this project were provided by the RCEA and the California Energy Commission CA-LeVIP Northern California Incentive Project, which promotes access to EV charging infrastructure by providing rebates for EV charging stations.

RCEA was awarded $48,000 to install the new EV charging stations, which have the ability to serve eight vehicles. The installation of the EV charging stations was completed in August 2021.

Of this project, Environmental Services Director Emily Sinkhorn said, "The City of Arcata is committed to infrastructure upgrades and policies that support our community in achieving climate change goals and reducing dependence on fossil fuels. The City greatly appreciates the partnership with RCEA to expand the network of EV charging stations in our community."

In addition, the new Arcata Futsal Court has been completed and is located behind the Arcata Community Center between the Arcata Sports Complex soccer and softball fields.

In 2015, an anonymous donor graciously provided funds through the Humboldt Area Foundation (HAF) to support the design, construction and ongoing maintenance of a community futsal court in Arcata.

On behalf of the anonymous donor, HAF, the Mad River Youth Soccer League (MRYSL) and Greenway Partners asked the City to build an outdoor futsal court at the Arcata Sports Complex dedicated exclusively to drop-in play.

Since the Arcata City Council approved this request, City staff partnered with MRYSL, HAF and Greenway Partners to design the court, and construction for this project began in August of 2019 and was completed in February 2020.

A formal ribbon cutting ceremony to celebrate this project was delayed due to COVID-19.

On the completion of this project, Paul Swenson of the MRYSL said, "The Arcata Community Futsal Project was founded by community members who believe that free play is a crucial component of a healthy community, and that providing free spaces for people to play in is essential to fulfilling that need. Everyone is welcome here, no matter their age or ability. We hope to see you out on the court!"

All are invited to attend. To slow the spread of COVID-19 in the community, all attendees must wear a face covering.

Help the City of Arcata formulate its new Residential Rental Inspection Program

CITY OF ARCATA
ARCATA – The City of Arcata is in the process of creating a Residential Rental Inspection Program to proactively address the issue of substandard long-term rental properties that create threats to the tenant's safety and the integrity of the building.

As part of the process, City staff recently introduced a Residential Rental Unit Inspection Program Ordinance (Ordinance 1552) at the City Council meeting held on Wednesday, Sept. 15, and the ordinance is scheduled to be adopted at the upcoming City Council meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 20.

Before the ordinance is adopted, the City is encouraging residents to reach out with their comments and suggestions.

Feedback from the community is crucial when designing and implementing an equitable program that supports all members of the community and promotes the health and safety of Arcata's neighborhoods. The ordinance can be reviewed online at cityofarcata.org/CivicAlerts.aspx?AID=403.

Those who will be directly affected by this program, including renters and property owners, are especially encouraged to share their input.

The Building & Engineering Department will host a public meeting to receive additional feedback and input on the ordinance before it is adopted.

The meeting will take place on Zoom on Monday, Sept. 27 at 5:30 p.m. More information on how to access the meeting can be found here.

Those who are unable to attend the public meeting are encouraged to submit comments to the Building & Engineering Department by email at RRIP@cityofarcata.org or by calling (707) 825-2156.

Comments should be submitted to the department by Tuesday, Oct. 5 at 4:30 p.m.

Public comments will also be accepted on this topic at the Arcata City Council meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 20.

For more information, please reach out to the Building and Engineering Department at (707) 825-2156.

For additional information, the media may contact Netra Khatri, city engineer, Building & Engineering Department, City of Arcata at (707) 825-2173.

Jett and Belle are shy, friendly and eager for companionship

It seems we've had a run of shy dogs lately! Here are two more this week that came in quite timid but, with a little help from volunteers and shelter staff, have found that the world isn't quite as scary as they had originally thought. We have found that these shy dogs can become the most loyal of companions as they come to know and trust their new people.

First up is Belle. This pretty four-year-old Border Collie mix came in with Wish, the blind dog featured last week, and one more female dog. Their owner had died and no family members came forward to claim them. Belle is the youngest of the group and is quickly learning that it can be pretty fun to go out for a walk with the volunteers.

❖ DOGTOWN
Mara Segal

She seems to know her name and has been an easy walker. Belle has a lovely thick brown and white coat and enjoys being pet. She has been rewarding her new friends with kisses to show her affection. Belle weighs in at about 55 pounds and has been respectful of the cats that she has met.

Belle particularly likes it when she gets to walk with another dog. She would probably be happy to go to a home with a dog brother or sister for company.

One of her favorite companions is Jett, the other featured dog for this week. On our earlier walks both dogs were sensitive to the loud noises around them. The shelter has the airport and Coast Guard for immediate neighbors and a Skeet-shooting range right up the road. A combination of repetition and overall increased confidence has successfully desensitized them to the noises!

We were pleasantly surprised when we noticed that the dogs were no longer cringing as an airplane flew low overhead.

Jett is estimated to be about four years old. He is also listed as a Border Collie mix, though he appears to have received a different set of physical characteristics than Belle.

Jett is about 45 pounds and has slightly coarse black hair. He is a bright little fellow who is cautious around new people but will jump right in and play with any friendly dog. He remembers the volunteers who have walked him and greets them with enthusiasm.

We like to tell potential adopters that the comfort that a dog like Jett feels with his volunteer friends is developed with just half an hour a day. Once in a home (especially one with another dog) Jett will warm right up and show what a loyal friend he can be.

Jett has been non-reactive to the cats he has met and, like Belle, may be a candidate for living with felines. Jett is also pretty good on the leash. He enjoys following his nose and getting a good sniff in.

The recent rain gave the shelter a scent reset but with so many dogs walking up and down the road and in the play yard, there is always something interesting to smell!

Belle and Jett are both available through the Humboldt County Animal Shelter. Appointments to meet them are available Monday through Friday.

Please call (707) 840-9132 for more information or to schedule an appointment.

HSU getting good COVID compliance

HUMBOLDT STATE UNIVERSITY
HUMBOLDT STATE – In a message sent out to the campus community last week, Humboldt State University reported having achieved high rates of vaccinations and attestations for exemptions, reflecting the campus community's commitment to health and safety.

Students: 98 percent have submitted and completed their attestation forms. Of all enrolled students, 92 percent are fully vaccinated. Of all students enrolled in face-to-face classes, 91 percent are fully vaccinated.

Employees: 92 percent have submitted and completed their attestation forms. Of all employees, 87 percent are fully vaccinated.

These numbers are encouraging! Thank you for continuing to take the precautions necessary to prevent the spread of illness, which include:

- wearing masks at all times indoors (regardless of vaccination status), except if you are alone in a private office, or in your residence hall room with the door closed, and outdoors if you can't maintain a

- six-foot distance from others
- vaccinating against COVID-19
- testing for COVID-19 once a week if your exemption was approved
- monitoring yourself for symptoms of illness before coming to campus

Please remember that free testing is available, Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. for students, faculty and staff in the Great Hall.

There is no limit to the number of tests an employee or student can receive. It's also important to understand what to do if you test positive. Read through the "Testing Positive" Guide carefully as steps differ for students and employees.

Appointments for vaccinations in the county can be made at myturn.ca.gov or call (833) 422-4255. You can schedule an appointment, or register to be notified when one is available.

Thank you again for doing your part to keep yourselves and your communities safe.

Pfizer boosters approved

HUMBOLDT DHHS
HUMBOLDT – The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) last week recommended Pfizer booster doses for certain at-risk groups, following emergency use authorization by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) earlier this week.

The CDC announced that it will align its guidance for Pfizer boosters with the FDA's and recommend:

- people 65 years and older and residents in long-term care settings should receive a booster.
- people aged 50–64 years with certain underlying medical conditions should receive a booster.
- people aged 18–49 years with certain underlying medical conditions may receive a booster, based on their individual benefits and risks

- people aged 18–64 years who are at increased risk for COVID-19 exposure and transmission because of occupational or institutional setting may receive a booster, based on their individual benefits and risks.

The Western States Scientific Safety Review Workgroup completed its review of these recommendations today and signed off on the move.

Individuals are encouraged to speak with their primary care provider to determine if a booster is right for them.

Booster doses for Moderna and Johnson & Johnson vaccines have not been approved.

Learn more about CDC's recommendations at cdc.gov/media/releases/2021/p0924-booster-recommendations.html.

Wetlands & Creeks | Two restoration projects

nel-like" culvert had been a barrier to fish passage on Janes Creek since it was originally built decades ago.

This completed project will allow fish (such as coho salmon, coastal cutthroat and steelhead trout, and even Pacific and western brook lamprey) to naturally swim through the culvert under the 2200 block of Alliance Road to reach more than 2.5 miles of potential habitat upstream.

This enhanced fish passage will improve fish travel during all life stages, while maintaining existing flood control capacity. The project was identified as a high priority in a previous city inventory and assessment.

Funding was provided by a Cooperative Agreement from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Coastal Program. Hooven Construction, a local business that submitted the lowest bid, completed the work.

The tour continued at the second project site: the Aldergrove Marsh (corner of Aldergrove Road and Ericson Way).

This restoration pilot project includes the removal of invasive, non-native aquatic plants from the marsh, which is expected to begin next month. Funding is provided by a Cooperative Agreement from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Coastal Program.

The committee members discussed many details about the project, along with best management practices to minimize environmental impacts from the heavy equipment that will be used to remove the vegetation.

The citizen-led Wetlands and Creeks Committee is composed of Council-appointed community volunteers interested in helping to preserve, enhance and protect Arcata's wetlands, creeks, tidelands and open spaces. Cannabis | Revenue drop out in open, flat areas in other parts of the state that also have good growing climates.

All those factors are "affecting solvency," said Adair. But the county can only do so much to bridge the delta between costs and income.

"Typically, we don't replace lost revenue but we will support activities and expenditures which are designed to help increase revenue for the applicants or to reduce other costs so that the margin of revenue increases," he said.

The emergency grants will be an addition to the county's Project Trellis cannabis business assistance program.

Project Trellis is funded through a 10 percent share of county Measure S cannabis excise tax revenue. And that revenue is expected to drop sharply.

According to a written staff report, a majority of 50 cannabis farmers surveyed said they won't be able to pay their October excise tax payments. In the works is a plan to extend tax payments.

Further assistance with compliance costs is also being developed through collaboration between the county's Planning and Building and Economic Development departments.

Supervisor Rex Bohn said that due to the seriousness of the situation, the county should take its grant application guidance directly to affected communities.

He noted that Humboldt has 20 percent of the state's commercial cannabis licenses but areas like Santa Barbara County, which has approved individual outdoor cultivation permits for as much as 87 acres, are "killing us on scale."

Supervisors were told by staff that "a bit of a roadshow" to various areas of the county is indeed being planned.

Supervisors approved the $1 million in emergency grant funding. They also directed staff to request an additional position for Project Trellis. The request will be made and likely approved at the next board meeting, on Oct. 5.

The process of determining the details of the emergency program will begin at the October 6 Project Trellis Advisory Committee meeting.

DISMANTLED AND DEMOLISHED

BREAKING UP IS HARD NOT TO DO With the statue and steps it once encircled gone, the useless, little-loved Plaza planter was in the process of being demolished starting last Friday and pausing over the weekend. The heavy equipment perched atop rubble at the Farmers Market didn't escape the scrutiny of Tofu Mike, who observed that "the new Plaza statues are really ground breaking." Meanwhile, out on Jackson Ranch Road, the remnants of that abandoned, burned-up trash trailer were dismantled and taken away from the bank of Liscom Slough piece by charred piece. Pitching in were a subset of the PacOut Green Team, consisting of members Ted and Pam Halstead and Boardmembers Jacey Spies and Chris Galleron. Chris used a cutting torch to dismember the boat trailer, and his dump truck was loaded with the remaining burned wood. Magnets were used to clear the roadway of nails and staples that fell from the wood. Arcata Scrap and Salvage took the metal trailer remnants. Second Arcata Bottom cell tower approved, but build is uncertain

Daniel Mintz
MAD RIVER UNION

ARCATA BOTTOM – With the county's approval of a second cell tower in the Arcata Bottoms area, concerns about proliferation of towers and visual impacts have been trumped by the demand for improved cell phone coverage.

A special permit for a 120-foot tower disguised as a water tank was approved at the September 16 Planning Commission meeting. Located on Foster Avenue about 100 feet from the intersection of Janes Road, the tower will be built and operated by AT&T.

The approval has followed a twisting path. The commission originally considered approval of two towers, the AT&T tower and a 130-foot-tall tower, from PWM, Inc., which is sited on Sun Valley Floral Farms property near the intersection of Foster Avenue and Dolly Varden Road.

When the two were first considered last July, the AT&T tower was proposed at a 100-foot height and commissioners favored the PWM proposal because it could accommodate more carriers.

A resolution approving the PWM tower and rejecting the AT&T tower was prepared for the commission's August 5 meeting. But the week of the second hearing, AT&T revised its project, increasing its tower's height to 120 feet, accommodating more carriers.

With the AT&T facility revised to accommodate up to four carriers and public support for better cell service surging, most commissioners changed their minds about the denial.

The PWM tower was approved and commissioners directed staff to prepare a resolution for the Aug. 19 meeting approving the AT&T tower.

But the approval was bumped to last week's meeting because the revised height required re-noticing to the public.

County Planner Cliff Johnson told commissioners that the AT&T tower will result in "increased reliable service indoors and outdoors."

There's some doubt that the market can field up to eight carriers in the same area, however, and Johnson noted that PWM has offered to lease AT&T top space on its tower at 50 percent of market cost.

Commissioner Mike Newman described that as "a very big incentive" and because the county's

General Plan discourages siting multiple towers in the same area, he said approving the AT&T permit would be granting "special privileges."

PWM's tower is mostly hidden by an existing building and Newman doubted that AT&T's water tower design will be easy on the eyes.

"I don't think we need to permit a second location here and this big water tower sticks out like a sore thumb to me, actually," he said.

Commissioner Noah Levy acknowledged the visual impact concerns but said there's "ample evidence to support the assertion that this AT&T tower would be superior to the other one."

The dual towers have been in a bit of a duel and Levy suggested that only one will be left standing.

"What we've learned from watching the communications between the two is that I don't know that both will get built," he said, adding that "we may need to let the market sort this out."

Commission Chair Alan Bongio thinks the PWM tower has a better location but "I believe in competition."

Bongio agreed that it's likely only one of the towers will actually be built.

Commissioner Melanie McCavour, the commission's Arcata district member, prefers the "aesthetics" of the AT&T tower and noted its recently-proposed expansion of carriers.

The permit was approved, with Newman dissenting. Commissioners Brian Mitchell, Peggy O'Neill and Thomas Mulder were absent.

FLOWERY DISPLAY Putting on a show throughout the summer, the new Native Plant Garden at the Arcata Marsh Interpretive Center now offers a flowery fall display in its three vegetation regions – woodland, prairie and dunes. With help from Friends of the Arcata Marsh and the City of Arcata, siblings Paul and Lynne Abels channeled their experience and energy throughout last winter and spring to prepare, plan and plant the beautiful display of Humboldt County native plants. Come see it in person, and go to Friends of the Arcata Marsh, arcatamarshfriends.org/amic-native-plant-garden to see a plant list. Top left, Colorado visitors Bonnie and Rich Fennig wander the path. Offshore wind power gets boost from new law

Agencies to develop plans with goal of going carbon-free by 2045

REDWOOD COAST ENERGY AUTHORITY

HUMBOLDT – New legislation just signed into law on Thursday by Gov. Gavin Newsom will significantly advance the development of an offshore wind power industry on the West Coast, especially in Humboldt County, say developers of a proposed local project and the area’s Community Choice Aggregator (CCA).

The legislation, AB 525, which was approved nearly unanimously by the California Legislature earlier this month, directs California state agencies to develop a strategic plan to facilitate the development of offshore wind on a large scale over the next two decades.

California law states that, by 2045, 100 percent of electricity consumed in California must come from carbon-free sources. One study has suggested offshore wind has the potential to generate electricity in an amount equal to 150 percent of California’s electricity usage in 2019.

Further, offshore wind is the perfect complement to solar generation in California as ocean winds pick up in the early evening when the sun begins to set.

“This new law shows California is now fully committed to developing an offshore wind industry that can create local jobs, advance towards a carbon-free electric system, and address the threat of climate change,” said Tyler Studds, chief executive officer of Redwood Coast Offshore Wind (ROW). ROW is a 50-50 joint venture between two international offshore wind developers, Ocean Winds and Aker Offshore Wind, in partnership with the Redwood Coast Energy Authority (RCEA).

RCEA is a CCA formed by nine local government entities with a mandate to procure clean and renewable power for Humboldt County electricity customers.

Earlier this year, Newsom and the Biden administration announced they expect to hold an auction in 2022 for leases off both the Humboldt Coast and the Central Coast near Morro Bay.

These areas combined could produce 4.6 GW of offshore wind energy and power 1.6 million California homes.

“This legislation and the support it received underscores the wisdom of RCEA engaging early to work toward the responsible development of our local offshore wind resource,” said Matthew Marshall, executive director of RCEA. “We are taking a community-based approach to developing Humboldt County’s offshore wind resource that prioritizes community values, protecting the environment, and developing strategies to avoid or mitigate impacts to the fishing community and local Tribes, while creating jobs and economic development.”

ROW has already actively engaged a host of local stakeholders, including fisheries, labor and Tribal governments to understand their concerns and explore solutions.

Deploying wind turbines offshore, where they will be placed on floating platforms so they can operate in deep water, will require significant investments and upgrades to the Port of Humboldt Bay that can also benefit other port users.

Once the port is upgraded and as the industry develops, other parts of the offshore wind supply chain could locate facilities in Humboldt County and elsewhere in California.

In July, the Humboldt Bay Harbor and Recreation District submitted a grant application to the U.S. Department of Transportation Port Infrastructure Development Program to fund the development of a Humboldt Bay Offshore Wind and Heavy Lift Marine Terminal.

“This law provides much-needed certainty around the future of offshore wind in California and will spur significant upgrades in port and grid infrastructure,” said Jonah Margulis, senior vice president of U.S. operations for Aker Offshore Wind. “We look forward to creating a robust, sustainable offshore wind industry in Northern California that will serve the community with reliable, clean energy and well-paying jobs for decades to come.”

Don’t click on links in text messages bearing wonderful pandemic-related offers, because of course they’re scams

BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU

SACRAMENTO – Everyone loves a deal – including scammers. Recently, BBB Scam Tracker has seen numerous reports of scammers impersonating well-known companies and offering COVID-19 themed discounts.

How the scam works

You receive a text message from a large, reputable company. The message claims that, due to the pandemic, the company would like to help people out by offering them an amazing deal. These range from free or discounted services to gift cards and cash.

For example, consumers reported receiving the following text messages:

“COVID-19 REFUND. VERIZON

COMPANY is giving out $950 to all users of our Verizon service, If yes kindly text your Verizon”

“Due to the pandemic, Hulu is giving everyone a free 1-year subscription to help you stay at home. Get yours here [link].”

Of course, these messages don’t really originate with that company. They come from impersonators who hope to steal your personal information.

If you click the link, you may be prompted to log into a lookalike website that scammers use to get hold of your login ID and password.

With that information, scammers can access your accounts and even make purchases using your saved payment methods.

How to avoid text message scams

- Treat messages from unknown senders with caution.
- Don’t click on links from strangers.
- Confirm deals directly with the company before you accept.
- Install antivirus software on your computer and mobile devices.

• Monday, September 6 4:48 p.m. A man was seen walking around with a two foot-long knife holder on his hip, but no knife was evident.

5:08 p.m. A man on Valley West Boulevard brought a knife to an argument with himself, first stabbing a road sign and then flinging the knife at a tree, because grrrrrr.

6:32 p.m. A woman broke her wrist while roller skating at the Marsh.

6:46 a.m. Police were advised that the vehicle of a woman who’d been taken to the hospital was probably going to be left parked out at the Marsh overnight.

6:51 p.m. A man whose studiously implemented skate punk attire checked every box came to a 13th Street store clad in a black hat, red bandanna, t-shirt with bonus/mandatory flaming skull, skater shoes and bad-boy backpack whose side pockets were fitted with at-the-ready spray paint cans. He stuffed said backpack with groceries and left without paying, the entire caper being recorded on video, then headed to Northtown to scarf it all down in keeping with whatever edgy skate-related branding applies to that process.

6:57 p.m. A witness in F Street’s southern nether regions observed the whole door-handle-tryer process, from working vehicle to robbing a car and disposing of a gutted wallet in the area.

• Tuesday, September 7 1:34 a.m. A slithy towe worked Beverly Drive, harvesting donations of property left inside the residents’ vehicles. On being sighted inside someone’s car, he slithered away toward Virginia Way to do more shopping.

9:36 a.m. The bag of trash surrounded by hypodermic needles on a Marsh trail wasn’t intended as an interpretive display (a communication media that is designed to engage, excite, relate to, reveal to the visitor the essence of the topic or story being presented). And yet it did serve that purpose, detailing the recreational preferences of some of the sanctuary’s less refined residents.

10:20 a.m. The Arcata Police and Environmental Services departments still refer to the D Street Neighborhood Center as the “D Street Community Center,” despite the building never having been named that.

2:23 p.m. A woman with red hair and wearing a fake tail brazenly tried doorhandles along Aloha Way and West End Road.

6:47 p.m. Someone stole the tailgate off a guy’s truck in Valley West.

• Wednesday, September 8 Midnight A knock on a Lewis Avenue front door was followed by a muffled child’s voice from the other side, saying something indiscernible. Police found no one there.

9:29 a.m. A misdelivered prescription set off confusion aplenty at an Eighth Street senior living facility. The person who had the meds wouldn’t give them back, and someone overdosed on something.

• Thursday, September 9 2 a.m. The cherished reopening of a large, azure café on the Plaza was marred by a man with long gray hair who threw rocks, shattering two windows. He was last seen running toward the Portland Loo of Shock and Awe.

10:06 p.m. A man who’d lost his iPad traced it to the perpetually crapsaped beggar’s corner at Samoa Boulevard and H Street and called police to the scene. But when they arrived, the cyber-signal was undetectable amid the rubble and ruin.

and jeans showed up for the second time on an I Street woman’s doorbell cam, saying he needed her house key.

9:24 a.m. Ever-more emboldened, a vehicle camper in the Community Center parking lot pried the cover off an electrical outlet at the city’s Parks Dept. shed and ran an extension cord to deliver hot ‘n’ ready electrons to his waiting white station wagon.

Scoping the volatile cannabis industry

CENTER FOR THE STUDY OF CANNABIS AND SOCIAL POLICY HUMBOLDT – The Center for the Study of Cannabis and Social Policy (cannabisandsocialpolicy.org/litproject/) on Sept. 22 published the findings of the survey “Corporate Cannabis is Coming: Cultivators, Are You Ready?” which ran from August 6 to Sept. 12, 2021 on the North Coast of California.

A significant 82 responses from cannabis operators came in, allowing for robust data to analyze. Compiled by the Center for the Study of Cannabis and Social Policy (CASP) a federal 501c3 education nonprofit, the survey findings represent the first phase of a research project studying the efforts of Cooperation Humboldt (cooperationhumboldt.com) to understand what services would be of value to cannabis farmers.

This project has no affiliation with Humboldt State; it is a collaborative effort between CASP and Cooperation Humboldt. Cooperation Humboldt defines its mission as “helping to build a solidarity economy on California’s North Coast by empowering residents to meet their collective needs in harmony with nature, without exploiting anyone.”

Cooperation Humboldt has also published the survey findings on its website at cooperationhumboldt.com/cooperative-cannabis-economy-group.

The price collapse of cannabis in California due to oversupply and other factors has been the subject of many articles in 2021 and is threatening the survival of dozens of small craft farmers particularly in Humboldt County.

It is against this backdrop that “the survey reveals three areas of challenge,” explains Nicole Riggs, affiliate researcher with CASP. “First, low prices; second, high costs (fees, licenses and taxes); and third, lack of access to market.

The data shows that not only more than 85 percent of respondents would like assistance in developing cooperative systems, but also that 46.3 percent need support in preparing Trellis grant applications.”

For information on Humboldt County’s Project Trellis, please see gohumco.com/195/Project-Trellis.

Phase 2 will consist of semi-structured interviews with willing respondents, inviting them to share their thoughts and activities. The interviews will explore possible cooperative systems, look for alternate ways of viewing the problem and think outside the box to generate new solutions.

Further interviews with case users in locations with high responses will be conducted to gather insights into cooperative system implementation, and to obtain practical evidence of the result where possible.

The interviews will be recorded and transcribed and Phase 2 findings will be published in October.

For more information, please see cooperationhumboldt.com/cooperative-cannabis-economy-group and cannabisandsocialpolicy.org.

Say goodbye to Bayside Community Hall

Bank account gutted, locks changing, hall prepped for Grange takeover

Say Goodbye to Bayside Community Hall as you’ve known it for the past several years.

As reported last week, the California State Grange has moved to enforce judgment against Bayside Community Hall.

On February 26, 2021, Superior Court Judge Kelly L. Neel granted a Motion for Summary Judgment, declaring that all of the property of Bayside Community Hall belongs to the California State Grange.

Following various back and forth lawyering, this judgment was entered on April 1, 2021.

Bayside Community Hall received notice of that judgment on April 28, 2021 and set up the first of two meetings to discuss the situation with the community.

Community meetings in June and August, an online survey and a survey mailed to recent members and donors, were used to solicit community input.

The overwhelming response was to appeal the judgment, and to continue to fight for local ownership and autonomy.

Bayside Community Hall’s attorneys filed a timely notice of appeal. COVID has severely impacted court operations statewide, so it is not known how long this appeal will take.

Meanwhile, the existing judgment gives the Bayside Community Hall property to the California State Grange. There was a possibility of retaining local control of that property during the appeal through the posting of a bond. The Bayside Community Hall board solicited pledges toward a bond fund and kept waiting for notification of the bond amount.

But then, on Sept. 14, 2021, without warning, the Grange enforced one part of the judgment and emptied the Bayside Community Hall bank accounts. The balance went from $29,672.99 to $0.

In investigating what was going on, the Bayside Community Hall board learned that their HISTORY IN REVERSE In 2017 the Bayside Grange sign came down and was replaced by the Bayside Community Hall sign. Now that process appears ready to play out in reverse.

PHOTOS VIA BAYSIDE COMMUNITY HALL

attorneys made a mistake. The bond amount was set some time back in July; the attorneys missed it and the Board was never notified. The Board still hasn’t seen any documents about the bond amount.

Now the Bayside Community Hall board was in a difficult position. There is a business to run, with regular users, planned events and pending rentals, but no funds to pay bills, and no certainty that any new deposited funds would not be seized.

Through a new attorney, Bayside Community Hall reached out to the California State Grange attorneys, to attempt to set up an orderly transfer of the Hall property, so as to disrupt Hall users as little as possible and keep an income stream flowing to meet ongoing building needs during the appeal.

But the Grange wasn’t interested. They had already begun the paperwork to take control of the property another way. At some point in the near future they will show up with the Sheriff and change the locks.

No notice. No coordination. No concern for hall users.

The Bayside Community Hall board has notified its ongoing users and upcoming renters. It has gotten the building, the maintenance checklists, the rental files, the bookkeeping, the keys, the inventory, the ongoing building projects, and other critical systems into good order, so that the Grange can successfully steward the building and meet the needs of its users and renters, should it choose to do so. Bayside Community Hall has made changes to planned events, like the upcoming Bayside Fall Makers Fair, so as to hold them without use of the Hall.

Now Bayside Community Hall will have to map out its own future for while the appeal is underway. Bayside Community Hall as an organization must continue to exist to monitor the appeal, but little else about what it can or should do is clear.

If anyone out there has any thoughts or suggestions, reach out and let them know. The baysidecommunityhall@gmail.com email is still active. And if you want to know more about this whole situation, visit Save-OurHalls.com for short videos and graphics, and links to more detailed information.

More climate change news

I am writing to encourage the Mad River Union to increase its coverage of climate change, the most urgent danger facing us.

You could have a monthly column or just more stories, local and national/international.

You could cover efforts by local groups, interviews, climate literacy quizzes, legislative efforts, local danger posed by climate change (sea level rise, influx of fire refugees), local upcoming CAP plans, the proposed wind farm.

The more people stay aware of what is happening, the more they are willing to support mitigation efforts. Thank you.

How fortunate we are indeed to have such a poet on these shores

Gigi Gaskins the owner of hatWRKS in TN is

A disgusting profile in anti-Semitic insanity.

Racist Gigi is profiting from the Holocaust,

Because Gigi is a nut job whose brain is lost.

Selling yellow stars saying “Not Vaccinated”

Should be a new reason to be incarcerated.

Put Gigi in a straitjacket in her padded cell,

For the rest of her life until she goes to Hell.

Six million Jews died because of this hate.

Tennessee, don’t let Gigi define your state!

Supes’ neglect has left Humboldtters near-defenseless

I am a Humboldt County Sheriff’s Office deputy and I love my job; but the only way to keep doing my job may be to quit.

I am Deputy Shane Steele. Anybody who pays attention to local news knows that a Humboldt County sheriff’s deputy has one of the toughest law enforcement jobs in the country. I love it because as a lifetime Humboldt County resident, it is an absolute honor for me to serve and protect the community and people I grew up with.

Right now, Humboldt County has a leadership crisis that has become a public safety crisis. Even though Humboldt County taxpayers voted twice to tax themselves and give $70 million over the last five years to county leaders to improve public safety, the politicians pursued a “train rookies and hope for the best,” strategy that has actually made things worse, not better. Think about that. $70 million of your money, which you and I overwhelmingly voted for to improve public safety, being squandered and putting us in a worse position than when we started.

Right now, we have 25 unfilled deputy sheriffs’ positions, with one of every three positions vacant. Before taxpayers gave the county $70 million, there were only 16 unfilled positions. This means that on any given night there may be as few as eight sheriff’s deputies to cover all of Humboldt County, which is roughly the size of the State of Connecticut. This has resulted in the now unchecked theft and violence that our county sees on a daily basis.

That means entire communities like Cutten, McKinleyville, Garberville, Willow Creek, and even the Blue Lake home of my newlywed wife and I, have many nights with little to zero deputies on patrol. It’s scary for Humboldt families. And believe me, when you’re out there responding to gunshots in the middle of the night, while working your fourth 12-hour night shift in a row, with little to no sleep and your back-up is 45 minutes away, it makes you a little uneasy.

The only way to change the situation is to inspire new leadership from our county supervisors. In fact, many people in our community, including deputies I work with, are encouraging me to quit my job as a sheriff’s deputy to run for county supervisor so I can fix the problem myself.

Our current Humboldt County supervisors pay themselves about 57 percent MORE than the median rate of other county supervisors, while they pay Humboldt Sheriff’s Deputies 40 percent LESS than in neighboring Mendocino County. In fact, when a rookie sheriff’s deputy patrolling our rural communities doesn’t get paid much more than an employee at the new In-N-Out Burger in Eureka, it’s no wonder that dozens of the rookie candidates who apply to be deputies fail out of the basic training program or leave soon after completing their training for the greener pastures of other higher paying agencies. Their dropout comes after tens of thousands of taxpayer dollars are wasted on their training with zero benefits to the taxpayers of Humboldt County who funded it.

I love my job and don’t want to become a politician. I grew up in the forests and on the rivers of Humboldt County hunting and enjoying the outdoors, and right now our environment itself needs policing. I love being able to be a part of ridding our county of some of the worst environmental perpetrators, who selfishly destroy the fragile watersheds of the Eel, Van Duzen and Mad Rivers with unpermitted water theft and widespread toxic diesel and pesticide pollution. But, we can’t get the bad guys, protect our environment and our community members if we don’t have enough good people, out there day and night, rain or shine, willing to risk life and limb to keep their friends, family, and the unnamed stranger from whatever danger this world may bring.

I’m not at the point of quitting yet, but I am speaking up for the first time. If enough of us raise our voices, we can demand leadership. And if they won’t lead, they need to get out of our way.

Shane Steele

Sincerely,
Jake Pickering

Eureka Symphony Season 30: re-emerging with great hope

EUREKA SYMPHONY
EUREKA – The Eureka Symphony returns with great hope to the Arkley Center for the Performing Arts as its 30th Anniversary season begins Friday and Saturday, Oct. 1 and 2.
Elgar’s evocative “Serenade for Strings” opens the concert, providing a perfect prelude to the featured solos of violinist Otis Harriel in Franz Schubert’s engaging “Rondo in A” plus Tomaso Vitali’s adventurous “Chacone in G Minor.”
Otis Harriel is no stranger to Humboldt or the Eureka Symphony, hailing from McKinleyville and having begun his musical career playing with local orchestras and chamber ensembles. Harriel won the Eureka Symphony’s Young Artists Competition in 2008, and later returned as a Eureka Symphony guest artist in 2017, playing the Mendelssohn “Violin Concerto.”
Now a professional violinist in the San Francisco-based “Friction Quartet,” he has played in many venues, including the stages of Carnegie Hall. Harriel considers himself lucky to have played all kinds of music from classical, pop, jazz and fiddle.
Please note that vaccination proof will be checked at the door.

FEATURED Otis Harriel.
Masks are required. There will be no intermission.
Tickets may be purchased online at eurekasymphony.org or by calling the Eureka Symphony ticket line at (707) 845-3655.

Virtual reading event underway

HUMBOLDT COUNTY OFFICE OF EDUCATION
EUREKA — The local Children’s Author Festival has been postponed by the pandemic, but participating children’s authors remain excited for its in-person return. Enthusiasm for the bi-annual event is showcased in a new video profile created by the Humboldt County Office of Education (HCOE).
In the video, children’s book authors express their enthusiasm for when the event returns in its in-person form.
Despite the postponement of the in-person event, organizers of the Children’s Author Festival have created a virtual Beanstack Reading Challenge that is going on now until October 23.
Beanstack is interactive software that makes a game of reading, writing and other activities. A parent of other caregiver signs up for a family account that can include all readers in the family.
More information about this virtual event may be obtained by visiting the Humboldt County Library’s Beanstack site, humlib.beanstack.org, or downloading its app from the Google Play or App Store.
More information about the event may also be viewed on the event’s website, with messages from the authors this year. The video gives authors a platform to discuss their books and what they enjoy about the Humboldt County event.
For many years, HCOE has partnered with the county library and other local organizations to put together a bi-annual Children’s Author Festival. “It’s really a lovely event that usually brings 25 authors from all around the country every two years,” said Ryan Keller, HCOE’s library media specialist, on behalf of the event. “This year’s theme is ‘Take Flight with Books’, asking children and adults how books helped us all ‘take flight’ in our imaginations while grounded during the pandemic,” she added.
The authors visit local schools and participate with organizers in a book sale at the main Humboldt County Library.

Roll up your sleeves and have some fun

You’ve seen the colorful CASA (Court Appointed Special Advocates for Children) “Super Kid Season” signs positioned in yards all over Trinidad by Trinidad Civic Club volunteers. Jeanne Gordon, executive director of CASA of Humboldt in Eureka, provided information on how donations help local children in need.
She said that on average, CASA trains 25 to 30 new advocates annually. The Eureka based organization receives 10 referrals each month, or about 120 annually. These are foster children who benefit from stable relationships with caring adult advocates. There are two full-time case supervisors budgeted which allows CASA to serve approximately 80 children annually.
There are many ways to assist: sign up to train as an advocate; distribute donation cans (Murphy’s Market and the Seascape have cans) or add money to them; or sponsor a Facebook fundraiser. The next fall advocate training session runs from October 5 through November 16.
Find out more by visiting humboldtcsa.org or email Jeanne Gordon at Jeanne@humboldtcsa.org. You can send donations directly to CASA of Humboldt, 2356 Myrtle Avenue, Eureka, CA 95501.
Trinidad Head Lighthouse open Saturday, October 2
The monthly first Saturday open house at the 1871 Trinidad Head Lighthouse will take place on October 2 from 10 a.m. to noon courtesy of the Bureau of Land Management-California Coastal National Monument, Trinidad Museum and the Trinidad Rancheria. Pedestrians only.
No vehicular access. Park in the Trinidad State Beach area and walk up the black-top road to the open gate about a half mile from the bottom of Trinidad Head.

Alzheimer’s Walk
Trinidad Civic Club Co-President Jan West is organizing a second Alzheimer’s Walk on Saturday, October 9, 2021 at 9 a.m.
Jan explains her involvement: “I decided to become involved with this organization when I read a moving tribute by Bob Lake, the local owner of Katy’s Smokehouse in Trinidad, whose wife Judy suffered for 12 years from this terrible affliction. Then, I learned that a Peace Corps friend of 50 years also suffered from it. I am attending his memorial service in a few weeks, so this is a deeply personal reminder of what terrible devastation a disease that robs someone of his/her memory can cause.”
Jan researched the disease, which “afflicts more women than men and that one in nine Americans 65 and older suffer from it. By age 85, 34.6 percent of people have Alzheimer’s. When you consider the number of seniors in America in the Baby Boomer generation, there will soon be a crisis of caring for so many.”
She explains that money raised in connection with the Alzheimer’s Walk is targeted for research. Email uwfor for instructions on how to donate using the Alzheimer’s web site.
To participate in the October 9 walk, meet Jan at her home, 470 Trinity St. at 9 a.m. and walk around Trinidad’s streets for about a mile, ending up in front of Katy’s Smokehouse, where Bob Lake has established a memorial garden on Edwards Street. Let Jan know if you would like a t-shirt by calling (707) 677-3655.

Jada swoons for Toni’s Blackberry Malts

When friends come to visit my hometown of Arcata, there are a few things I call the Must-Do’s.
Moonstone Beach, Fern Canyon, and Toni’s blackberry malts. Toni’s on Heindon Road in Valley West, needs no introduction to locals.
Now that I have gotten over the shock of that remodel, I can go sit in a booth every few months and get some tots, or rings, or any old thing, as a delicious accompaniment to one of my all-time favorite treats – a Blackberry Malt at Toni’s.

Cold creamy vanilla soft-serve, whipped into a large shake with malt powder and chunks of sweet, well-ripened real blackberries, is one of the very few foods I will hold up as better than any other shake in the States.
Imagine my horror, when, upon bringing in my friend visiting from Pittsburgh, Penn., I was told that they were out of blackberries and did not know when they would be back in!
We got an OJ shake, also good, but nothing compares to the famous Blackberry Malt.

Karen, a manager at Toni’s, informs me that the dream is not dead. “There has been some disrupting in the supply line,” she told me, doubtless related to the stress the country has been going through the last year, or maybe drought. “We keep trying every week to order them, so as soon as they are back on the market, we will offer them again.”
So keep those dreams alive, fellow blackberry fans – the Blackberry Malt is bound to come back sooner or later!
Meanwhile let’s keep supporting Toni’s and keep this local treasure going.

HAND ART Mack High students had a lot of fun tabling at club rush.

Many students turn out for first club rush since COVID struck

This last week we had a club rush! Club rush is where all of the clubs on our campus meet at the quad at lunch and other students can walk around and look at all the clubs we offer.
It was a huge success this year with a good turnout.
We had many different clubs participate in this event.

Students had fun exploring their interests and meeting people who share the love for said interest.
Many tables had a raffle or candy for students who stopped by and talked to them.
This has been our first club rush since the COVID pandemic has hit. Many clubs saw an increase in members after this event!

Girls’ Soccer turning heads

So far into the season, it has been the McKinleyville Girls’ soccer team that’s been turning heads left and right.
After starting the season with a 1-1 tie against Eureka, the Panthers have asserted themselves in league play, shutting out both Del Norte (9-0) and Fortuna (3-0). Heading into a rivalry game Wednesday against Arcata, there is no question that their recent momentum will carry over.
Apart from being a rivalry game, McKinleyville’s trip to Arcata Wednesday could have rippling effects throughout the standings, as both teams post the same record (as of Sept. 21).
After Wednesday’s clash of the titans (whatever the outcome may be), McKinleyville has a rematch against Eureka Saturday, Sept. 25.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

CITY OF ARCATA LEGAL NOTICE INTRODUCTION OF ORDINANCE NO. 1551 I hereby certify that at a regular meeting held on September 15, 2021, the Arcata City Council introduced Ordinance No. 1551, summarized below, An Ordinance of the City Council of the City of Arcata Amending Title VI, Chapter 4, Section 6566 of the Arcata Municipal Code Reauthorizing the Public, Educational, and Government (PEG) Cable/Video Service Franchises Operating in the City of Arcata, at which time the reading in full thereof was waived and approval granted for reading the ordinance by title only. The motion to introduce Ordinance No. 1551 was passed by the following vote: AYES: Watson, Atkins-Salazar, Goldstein, Matthews, Schaefer. NOES: None. ABSENT: None. ABSTENTIONS: None.

Bridget Dory, City Clerk, City of Arcata Summary of Ordinance No. 1551

If adopted, this ordinance would reauthorize the existing Public, Educational, and Government (PEG) cable franchise fee equal to 1.401% of the cable franchisee's (currently Altice USA operating as Suddenlink Communications) gross cable revenues. This reauthorization will clearly secure Arcata's continued collection of cable franchise fees to support PEG access channels.

The full text of Ordinance No. 1551 is available for public inspection at the office of the City Clerk, Arcata City Hall, 736 F Street, Arcata, California, Monday through Friday, between 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Ordinance No. 1551 may be considered for adoption at the regularly scheduled meeting of the Arcata City Council to be held on October 6, 2021, and, if adopted at that time, would take effect November 5, 2021.

Bridget Dory, City Clerk, City of Arcata 9/22, 9/29
